

Richard Bernhard
Professor Emeritus
Fitts Department of Industrial & Systems Engineering
College of Engineering

Richard H. (“Dick”) Bernhard is actively serving as Professor Emeritus in the Fitts Department of Industrial & Systems Engineering. He has been on the faculty here since 1969 prior to which he was Assistant Professor at Cornell University. He received the B.M.E. & Ph.D. degrees at Cornell & an M.S. from the Sloan School of Management at M.I.T. At NCSU, he currently teaches his graduate course on Advanced Engineering Economics & serves as Departmental Faculty Representative to the NCSU Libraries. He is also a Past Chair of the University Library Committee, the University Physical Environment Committee & the University Non-Reappointment & Grievance Committee. Dick is a Fellow of the IISE & a recent winner of the ASEE National Engineering Teaching Excellence Award. He has been a Faculty Senator from Engineering for several past terms & served on the Faculty Senate & College of Engineering Executive Committees & on the UNC-System Faculty Assembly.