

Laura Blessing
Director, Library Human Resources and Administrative Operations
NC State University Libraries

Laura Blessing is a library faculty member who has served in human resource roles in the Libraries since 2002. She currently serves as the Director of Library Human Resources and Administrative Operations. Prior to her work at NC State, she worked as a public services librarian at the University of Wisconsin at Green Bay and later as a Human Resources and Budget Manager at the University of Texas at Arlington. Blessing has presented at local, state-wide, and national conferences and published articles on topics such as employee engagement, organizational communication, and compensation. She earned the Master of Library and Information Science degree from the University of Texas at Austin and she holds the Senior Professional in Human Resources (SPHR) and the Senior Certified Professional (SCP) certifications.